

Abstract:

The study and the development of hydraulic systems of the motorway service station east / west allowed us to project a network of drainage of rainwater, another for waste water network. The supply of drinking water is also done to meet the needs Consumption, watering, cleaning and make a reserve for the fire.

The operation effectively and permanently way of these works including ancillary works is necessary to ensure long life and without failures.